ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In one embodiment, a processor includes an execution unit configured to execute one or more threads and a detection unit coupled to detect whether a given thread includes an identifier. The execution unit is further configured to selectively continue execution of the given thread depending upon whether the detection unit detects the identifier.

5

10

15

20